Louise Knoble

Sun-set of a Famous Paper

The nice little old lady who was one of us at the noon luncheon hour in downtown restaurants is no more. Miss Louise Knoble, 74, died Saturday morning of burns from a gas heater, and she was laid to rest in the family burial ground here yesterday.

Miss Knoble might have seemed an incongruous figure to a stranger. She took her meals downtown, and mixed with the crowd who reports in 1873 that she was a gas heater, and she was laid to rest in the family burial ground here yesterday.

She was the daughter of the late Col. Gus Knoble, one of the engineers who built the Cairo & Fulton railroad (Missouri Pacific) through here in 1873 and founded Hope in that year. Miss Knoble went away from the home town for her adult career, but returned to it on her retirement — and was a familiar and respected figure.

Her father was one of the pioneer authorities who was quoted in the famous dispute over how the City of Hope happened to get its name. The great local historian, the late Charles A. Buehler, reports in the account printed in The Star's Centennial Edition, June 26, 1936:

"The general impression is that this section was named for Miss Hope Loughborough, the daughter of the attorney and trustee of the railroad, and in fact is so stated in the History of Arkansas compiled by Fay Hempstead, of Little Rock.

"Col. Gus Knoble, who was one of the engineers who came with the Cairo & Fulton railroad to Hope, disputes this naming. He says one of the directors of the railroad company, who lived in England, was named Hope, and this station was named for him."

Memories of long ago and the little old lady who was struck down Saturday belonged to all of them.

You know a great city by its tall buildings and its famous newspapers and therefore New York City won't be exactly the same with the disappearance of the evening Sun. This 116-year-old daily was merged last week with the New York World-Telegram, key paper of the Scripps-Howard organization.

Every newspaper has a special characteristic that keeps it from being identical with its contemporaries. They may print the same news, but either it's handled differently, the press work is better or worse (as the case may be), or the paper may be known to its readers for following its editors' particular interests in life.

The Sun was wealthy, brilliant, and inclined toward the essay style of reporting. A generation ago it was a newspaper giant. One of its editorial writers wrote that famous piece which begins: "Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus."

But newspaper is a tough business. Comic strips appeared. The Sun was by no means first with them. Circulations boomed as the New York field turned away from essays and embraced hard-boiled reporting. But the Sun stood still — in a field that was moving.

Last week the Sun set, not to rise again. It was an entirely honorable end for its 116-year career. The bondholders, par 100, were paid off at 102. 1,200 employees were — paid off.

Somewhere in this deal it seems to me there must be a moral for those bright young men in the Washington government who know all about everything. Because, for all their genius, they aren't quite able to replace a taxpayer who has just died.

Jimmy Jones to Speak at Regular Kiwanis Meet

James H. Jones, superintendent of local schools, will be principal speaker at the regular Tuesday noon meeting of the Hope Kiwanis club. The program was arranged by A. A. Albritton. All members are urged to attend.

Street Lights at Oakhaven Now Burning

Thanks to the Mayor Lyle Brown and Hope City Council and a couple of residents' streets lights are now burning at Oakhaven for the first time in over two years. The lights were first burned on Saturday night, January 7.

Funeral for Miss Knoble Held Sunday

Funeral services for Miss Louise Knoble, aged 74, who died Saturday of burns suffered earlier at her home, were held Sunday at 2 p.m. at the First Baptist church. The Rev. Steve Cook, Interment was in Rose Hill Cemetery. She is survived by a brother, Tom Knoble of St. Charles, Mo.

Truman Budget Plunges U.S. Deeper in Red

$35,720,000 Asked for State Flood Control

Washington, Jan. 9 (AP)—President Truman today recommended a $35,720,000 spending budget to congress. He said it will plunge the government $35,720,000 deeper into the red unless taxes are raised.

But even with "moderate" tax increase he wants, the President set no date for a balanced budget.

The cold war with communist Russia takes the biggest spending bite — $18,250,000,000. That figure for the 1951 fiscal year beginning July 1 includes $13,500,000,000 for defense — up $400,000,000 from this year — and $4,750,000,000 for foreign aid. The combined total is $56,000,000,000 lower than current outlays.

Next in size comes cash for domestic problems including Mr. Truman's "Fair Deal." This figure jumps $23,000,000 to $12,478,000,000.

The $24,239,000,000 spending total is equivalent to $202.17 for each man, woman and child in today's population. It is larger than last January's record peacetime budget estimate, but $58,000,000 less than the $43,297,000,000 now expected to be spent by June 30.

The budget message read by senate and house clerks was the longest "read" and provided a solid base for moving toward budgetary balance in the next few years.

The President set no target for balancing the government's bill in still under draft and would come and spending. The White House said the administration tax bill is still under draft and would be ready for congress in a few days.

"It is an honest budget, which meets the realities which face us," Mr. Truman said. "We have made and shall make more progress toward a less threatening world."

Our strength in the world is being paired by our present great responsibilities required to meet them."

Even before he spoke, Chairman Cannon (D-Mo.) of the appropriations committee, offered a budget balancing idea: Cut spending by $2,500,000,000 and raise taxes the same amount.

Also a planning organization of businessmen, now committed for economic development, came out for a billion dollar cut in excise taxes and another cut of equal size in the double tax in corporation earnings.

Mr. Truman sketched the make-up of 1951 spending in broad strokes.

He charged off nearly $30,000,000,000 or the 71 per cent his budget allotted to national defense foreign affairs veterans programs and interest costs of the federal debt with these words:

"Financial requirements to pay the costs of past wars and to achieve a peaceful world."

These four "cold war and after math-of-war" items, he said, would cost $1,781,000,000 less in the next fiscal year than in this one.

Then he discussed the nearly $12,500,000,000 in domestic programs that constitute the other 29 per cent of his budget and contain at their core his welfare goals.

He said the money assigned these programs "reflects — and has been generally recognized by congress to reflect — the necessary contributions of the federal government in our modern economy."

The military defense program alone was budgeted for $13,545,000,000 spending in fiscal 1951 an increase of $39,700,000 over this year. Foreign aid registered the biggest decline — from $4,750,000,000 to $4,000,000,000, a total of $750,000,000.

The "aftermath of war" costs also declined. Veterans at $6,080,000,000 would get $25,000,000 less than this year. The annual interest charge on the debt, off slightly, would cost $5,825,000,000.

But the increased cost of the domestic programs Mr. Truman wants to enlarge would cancel out more than half the spending decreases in the other fields.

The chief executive's forecast of a $5,133,000,000 budget deficit for fiscal 1951 was based on estimates that the government would spend $439,000,000 in this 12-months starting July 1, and take in only $37,306,000,000.

Recommends Big Increase in SPA Funds

save gasoline by "Vacu-mating." It is automatic and operates on the supercharge principle. Easily installed in a few minutes. Fits all cars, trucks and tractors. The manufacturers, the Vacu-matic Carburetor Co., 7617-700 W. State St., Watwatosa, Wis., are offering a Vacu-matic to anyone who will install it on his car and help introduce it to others. They will gladly send full free particulars if you write them or just send your

Douglas Hires Assistants at University

Fayetteville, Jan. 9. (AP) — At least three men who have worked with head football coach Olin Douglas elsewhere are coming to the University of Arkansas as his assistants.

Douglas, named to succeed John Barnhill as Razorback grid boss when the latter was made fulltime athletic director last month, has selected these aides:
Dick Humbert, Philadelphia Eagle end and halfback for seven years; William Ferrell and Charles Hanks, both of whom assisted Douglas at Drexel Pa. Tech., where he coached last season in addition to his duties as tackle, trainer and assistant strategist for the Eagles.

Humbert was a college star at Richmond university Ferrell was a teammate of Douglas at William at Mary Hanks played at Penn State Teachers, Shippensburg, Pa.

Douglas also has announced the retention of two of Barnhill's assistants — Chief Scout George Cole and line and track Coach Hobart Kioser.

He said four other Barnhill hands — Clyde Van Sickle, Harold Lahar, Charles Gray and Dud Mc-Gibbons — would help in spring practice, but there was no indication that they would be retained permanently.

Two of Barnhill's assistants, Herbert Brackett and Bill Barnes, have accepted positions at the University of California at Los Angeles.

Douglas is to move here from Blackstone, Va., Jan. 18. He plans to tour the state briefly before spring practice and more thoroughly afterwards.

Fesler to Stay
Columbus, O., Jan. 9. (AP) — Wesley E. Fesler will remain as head football coach at Ohio State university and his salary will be $159,300.

ist Mustangs won both their conference games last week and Arkansas and Baylor came through in their only starts.

SMU knocked off Texas A. and M. 55-48, and Rice, 63-61.
Arkansas thumped Texas, 60-51 then Baylor licked the Longhorns 49-43.

Tuesday Southern Methodist faces the dangerous Texas A. and M. in the Red Handed game.
Texas A. and M. meets Arkansas. Saturday, Rice plays Arkansas. Baylor takes on SMU, and Texas meets arch foe Texas A. and M.

Joe managed one victory last week in conference play, beating Texas Christian, 80-61. A. and M. then nudged the Horned Frogs, 49-43.

Joe McDermott, Rice center, passed season's score with 216 points. Jewell McDowell, A. and M., has 185 and Tom Hamilton, Texas, 184.

In non-conference games last week Rice beat Pepperdine of Los Angeles 68-33, and Kentucky nipped Arkansas 57-53.

Cleaning The Cuff
The Cincinnati Reds' propaganda is plugging speedy Joe Adcock, up from Tulsa, as the lad who may run powerful Ted Klus-zewski off first base. If he does it will be boon to scribes who are weak on spelling. . . . Arkansas basketball fans still get a chuckle out of the time when Arkansas was increased from $13,500, a year to $15,000, the university announced today.

Fesler, it was said, will remain for an "indefinite" period.
Before his Buckeye won the Rose bowl game, 17 to 14, Fesler admitted he was considering several business offers.

No More
"Skating on Thin Ice"

Last week, I saw our firemen sprinkling water on the parking lot next to Town Hall. I asked Smiley Roberts, who was handling a hose, what went on.

"We think it's dangerous for kids to skate on the river," says Smiley. "So, we're making a rink here... we're putting one layer of ice on at a time, so it freezes from the ground up."

By now, almost everyone in town has tried out the rink. Parents are saved a lot of worry and the kids have a good place to skate. It just shows how a little voluntary cooperation on the part of a few can do a lot of good for a great many!

From where I sit, our tavern owners deserve credit for doing much the same thing in working with the Brewers and their Self-Regulation program. They voluntarily cooperate to keep their places clean and law-abiding... places that are "safe" for our citizens to enjoy a temperate glass of beer, if and when they choose.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr.

Only 3 Cage Teams Remain Unbeaten

New York, Jan. 9. (AP) — While the sanity code battle in the NCAA is booked as the main event on this week's card of college conventions, don't be surprised if the Biloxi "spy" struggle turns up as the semifinal Bud Coach Of The Year Wilkins on was so steamed up when he discovered a pair of former LSU athletes watching Oklahoma's secret practice sessions that he publicly challenged them to turn up at the night of the game. . . . Bud might bring up the subject before the committee on ethics — if the coaches association has such a thing. . . . Vince Scully, who was next summer, says he was a Ford ham outfielder on road games and broadcaster at home games. "We had a captain who was playing a few semipro games and didn't go on the road," Vin explains.

Not Chapeaued To Lose
Brig. Gen. Reed Kilpatrick, Madison Square Garden prexy, was entertaining the hockey writers the other day by giving his wife credit for the Rangers' win over the Bruins. . . . Says that Mrs.
K., who never misses a Ranger home game, has been wearing the same red hat to every one since the club started winning. . . . Her great worry is that the headgear won't last long. . . . Says that Mrs.
K. began and she thus to appear in an out-of-style hat. . . . One writer (obviously married) interrupted at this point: "I just want to add, general, that it's going to cost you plenty when they finally lose."

Monday Matinee
Sewanne's strictly amateur football team claims a real "little" All-American. He's tailback Jim Ed Mulkin, who weighs 128 pounds unclad and who ran back four kicks for touchdowns, from 45 to 90 yards last fall. Benny Gould, the Toronto boxer who retired undefeated in 1922 with the last recognized junior featherweight title, owns a candy and cigar store in midtown Manhattan. He's no long a featherweight, junior or else.

Like Deeter, president of the Intercollegiate Boxing Coaches association, teaches a course in hunting and fishing at Washington State college. . . . That's one place where a boxing coach can legitimately tell them to put it in the bag.

Last week, I saw our firemen sprinkling water on the parking lot
next to Town Hall. I asked Smiley
Roberts, who was handling a hose,
what went on.

"We think it's dangerous for
kids to skate on the river," says Smiley. "So, we're making a rink
here... we're putting one layer of

By now, almost everyone in town
has tried out the rink. Parents are
saved a lot of worry and the kids
shows how a little voluntary co-

do a lot of good for a great many!

owners deserve credit for doing
much the same thing in working with the Brewers and their Self-Regulation program. They voluntarily cooperate to keep their places
clean and law-abiding... places
enjoy a temperate glass of beer, if
and when they choose.
